Another picture of Sutherland

In a desperate struggle with Carl D. Sutherland, a burglar he was attempting to arrest at Ninth street and Grand avenue, yesterday morning, Capt. Walter H. Auble of the Los Angeles police department was shot three times and fatally wounded.

He died in the detention ward of the Receiving Hospital, in the afternoon at 2:31 o'clock, failing to survive the shock of the operation and the loss of blood.

Sutherland, escaping from the scene of the shooting, hid in the brush near the city limits until after dark, and then, facing the guns of officers, threw his revolver from him and drank the contents of a small vial of cyanide of potassium. His hands were cuffed together and he walked a dozen steps with the officer; then he dropped dead.

Sutherland knew he had no chance to escape. Maj. Shurtliff of the California Rangers, after investigating

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—(Exclusive.) The spatch, "The victim of perhaps the most extraordinary automobile tragedy in the annals of San Francisco's motor car accidents, Philip N. Lillenthal, millionaire banker, public-spirited citizen, and well-known philanthropist, met his death late this afternoon on the Mission road under the hoofs of a terror-maddened horse, which of the big jumped into the tonneau of the

The horse, harnessed to a breaking cart, evidently a bronco, cleared the side of the car in one leap, and landed with its fore feet directly on the banker. In some way not yet ascertained, the other three occupants of the automobile, Mr. Lillenthal was hurled out over the back of the tonneau an instant later, striking in the road on his head.

Accompanying Mr. Lillenthal, were Gregory Wilenken and Ignace Warschawski, attaches of the Russian government, stopping at the Hotel Fairmont on their way around the world. Warschawski, the company's driver, to the left of the chauffeur, and Wilenken sat in the tonneau to the left of Lillenthal.

As the automobile approached Richmond square, the chauffeur slackened his speed, as he saw in the road ahead the fractious, half-tamed horse headed toward the car, evidently much frightened. The chauffeur, C. W. Chaifant, son of the proprietors of the Market Street Garage, tried to stop the horse sharply to the right to keep as far as possible from the unmanageable horse, and attempted to get by at half speed, the right wheels of the machine running into the hoofs of the animal.

The horse, which was rearing straight up into the air, would clear the hood of the machine and land on its nose. Again the chauffeur swerved from this menace and we in the front seat escaped the danger.

For the first time around I saw the fore part of the animal inside the tonneau. Poor Wilenken, who was seated on that side, was nowhere to be seen. The horse completely hiding him. Mr. Lillenthal was crushed beneath the animal's hoofs.

"I could not bear to look and I turned my head. In the space of a second the horse pulled himself out of the machine, the animal's feet touched the ground over the back of the tonneau into the road."

DIED AT HOSPITAL.

The driver of the breaking-cart cut his horse a stinging lash with his whip, the animal set foot on the ground, and disappeared down the road before any attempt could be made to stop him. Mr. Lillenthal, bleeding profusely at the mouth, was picked up by the company's automobile and a record run made for St. Luke's Hospital.

Dr. Runkle, house surgeon at St. Luke's, pronounced him dead within three minutes after his arrival. In discussing the suggestion that the horse had struck the banker and caused the injuries which resulted fatally, Dr. Runkle said:

"There was a puncture of the skin of the chest at all. Although all the ribs from the first to the seventh were fractured on the left side, it was rather the result of such crushing weight as the horse itself could bring to bear than of the impact of a sharp-pointed shaft end."

The autopsy tonight showed death resulted from a puncture by the first rib of the left lung and a rupture of the aorta. There was also a laceration, a slight laceration of the skull, resulting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive wire Dispatch.] Orville Wright, the hero of the wonder-working fast-developing world of aeronautics tonight.

Three days ago it was Jean de la Grange, the Frenchman, who only briefly has held his title above the Wright brothers.

Twice today Orville Wright, with Capt. Fred Meyer, doubled the record made by De la Grange in France. This evening he broke his own record of the early morning, sustained flight of 55m. 31s., by flying for 1h. 2m.

Immediately following the second flight, the first of War Wright established still another record. He took aboard as his companion Lieut. Lahm of the Signal Corps and circled the parade ground six times, descending safely after a flight lasting seven minutes. At no previous public exhibition has a man accompanied a flying machine down farther than a few hundred yards nor remained in the air more than a minute or two.

A crowd, not as large as those reported to have witnessed notable aeronautic events abroad, but embracing the most distinguished and possibly any attending similar performances either in Europe or America, saw the sensational records established this afternoon.

Aside from many notables of the aeronautic world itself, there were the secretary of War, Wright Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Treasurer of President Roosevelt's Cabinet, Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired Gen. Crozier, chief of ordnance; Gen. Murray, chief of artillery; Gen. Durand, chief of engineering; and Governor former Senator Chandler of New Hampshire; Dr. Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture.

UNAWARE OF ACHIEVEMENT.

Wright made his forenoon flight unheralded, and so had a choice audience of not much more than twenty persons. He did not know that he was to have smashed world records when he descended after circling the drill ground fifty-seven times and attaining a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour. When he learned how close he had come to flying for a full hour, he was a bit disappointed. He could just as well have stayed up as long as he had, for he found his engine would get over

LEADERS SEE BIG TAFT VOTE.

Fairbanks Says Plurality Will Equal His.

Fight on Hughes Will not Affect New York.

Congressman Hull Makes Favorable Report.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) "Taft will have nearly as large a plurality as did Roosevelt four years ago," declared Vice-President Fairbanks, at Republican headquarters today. Vice-President Fairbanks spent several hours in the city today. He was optimistic as to the coming election, and said:

"Although there may be losses in certain sections, owing solely to local causes, the general result will be found in the Republican column. The Democrats are making a strenuous fight for supremacy but it will be the same as heretofore, increased Republican majorities and the election of Taft and Sherman with nearly as large a plurality as was secured by Mr. Roosevelt and myself four years ago."

The factional fight over Gov. Hughes will not endanger the success of the Republican national ticket. In New York and New Jersey is certainly for Taft. This was the message brought to headquarters today by Congressman Hull of Iowa.

"I have just returned from a month's trip in each State. In my judgment the situation in New York, while belabored on State matters, is in excellent shape on national politics. Of course the fight on the Governorship will soon be settled satisfactorily."

"In New Jersey I found little Bryan sentiment, and the best-advised men there seem to think that Taft will have a large majority."

"The same influences governing New York and New Jersey largely govern Connecticut, and I would say that in these three States, with a proper effort on our part, the Republican tickets are absolutely safe."

"I am sure the result of the election in Maryland will demonstrate for all time that the State is certainly against Bryan."

HUGHES SURE, SAY LEADERS.

PRIMARY SHOWS GOVERNOR IS STRONG WITH PARTY.

Herbert Parsons, First of Chiefs to
Be Won Over, and Woodruff, State
Chairman, Falls Quickly Into Line for Present Executive of New York State.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Republican State leaders who, a week ago, said they did not believe Gov. Hughes would be renominated today declared in their opinion there is no doubt that Hughes will be nominated at Saratoga to head the State ticket.

Herbert Parsons was the first of the leaders to swing into the Hughes column. He said the majority of the delegates from New York county would be for the Governor in the convention. He based his prediction on the showing made at the primaries Tuesday.

Timothy L. Woodruff, State chairman and head of the Brooklyn organization, followed Parsons with a statement which was interpreted in political circles as indicating that he would not oppose the renomination.

This apparent change of front by the leaders does not mean that the Saratoga convention will be one of peace and harmony. "Fur may fly," as one leader expressed it.

The opinion was expressed, however, that with the majority of New York county delegates and fair portion of King's county delegation, the renomination of Governor will be assured on first ballot.

Before he made the foregoing statement, Parsons had been seen by Woodruff, William L. Ward and other leaders of lesser importance.

DEADLOCK IN IOWA.
CUMMINGS GAINS TWO.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
DES MOINES (Iowa) Sept. 9.—The first ballot for United States Senator today resulted in a deadlock. Cummings received 46 votes, a gain of two over yesterday. Another vote will be taken tomorrow.

The vote today was: Cummings, 46; Forter, 45; scattering, 43.

Cummings gained two votes over yesterday. Representative Holmes and Wilson (progressives), who were absent yesterday, were present today and voted for Cummings.

The standstill vote solidly against Cummings, scattering their votes, although they gave the biggest number to Congressman Walter L. Smith, who received 20 standstill votes.

The House today passed a primary bill, providing for a separate primary ballot, with an order of party affiliation as the party test.

DRY QUESTION IN FRESNO.
PEOPLE MAY VOTE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)
FRESNO (Cal.) Sept. 9.—It now looks as if the question of prohibition in one form or another, would be submitted to the people all over Fresno county at the coming election this fall.

For several months the question of saloon or no saloon has been one of the most delicate topics between the people, and it is only a short time since the topic reached an acute stage. It is even hinted that the sudden resignation of W. Parker Lyons as Mayor

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Just dry and warm. This completes Chicago's weather augury for today. No rain is breeding anywhere which is likely to reach Chicago—unless the weather bureau makes a bad guess—or its carefully prepared prognostication goes askew. Weather rather above the September normal temperatures is expected. But no rain to give new life to drooping and fading vegetation. Today's maximum temperature was 90 and the minimum 56 deg. Last night, at a special meeting of the City Trustees that body unanimously to submit the question to a vote of the people at the next election and the County Supervisors at a special meeting of that body also made a special order of the question of submitting it to the people, either of the county at large, or of the separate precincts.

As the majority of the Supervisors have publicly given their personal promise to make this submission, they can hardly now escape keeping their promise.

FOR CONNECTICUT GOVERNOR.
LILLEY NOMINEE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
NEW HAVEN (Conn.) Sept. 9.—A funny story having for its moral "let bygones be bygones," and a round of the whole ticket, national and State, brought to a close with unbounded enthusiasm the Republican State Convention held in the Hyperion Theater today, in the parting words of United States Senator Frank B. Brandegee, the chairman, it was the most remarkable convention the party in Connecticut has ever held.

The ticket selected is as follows:
For Governor—George L. Lilley of Waterbury.

Secretary of State—Matthew H. Rogers of Bridgeport.

For State Treasurer—Freeman F. Patton of Stafford.

State Controller—Thomas D. Bradstreet of Thomaston.

Representative in Congress—Johnson Q. Tillson of New Haven.

For the Lieutenant-Governorship the nominations were in most cases climax of months of the sharpest kind of political skirmishing. The big contest was that between Congressman Lilley, who brought about the inquiry into the Electric Boat Company before a Congressional committee last spring, and Lieut.-Gov. Lake of Hartford. The entire organization lined up behind the former, in fulfillment of a pledge given two years ago, and Mr. Lake went down to defeat by a 3 to 1 vote.

CANNON FOR HARMONY.
ILLINOIS CONVENTION.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Sept. 9.—The Republicans of Illinois met here today in State convention and nominated four trustees of the State University, selected Presidential electors and adopted a platform.

Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was chosen chairman of the convention.

The convention was not as largely attended as in former years, because there were no contests of any consequence, for the primary elections held August 3 determined the candidates for State offices.

Speaker Cannon, in his speech, urged that all differences be forgotten and there be unity and harmony all along the line, and that everybody work for the success of the State and national tickets.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa also made an address. His speech dealt mostly with national issues.

Senator Hopkins, Gov. Denen and the Republican Congressmen present also made short addresses.

DIRECT VOTE FOR SENATOR.
NEVADA RIVALS SIGN PACT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
RENO, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) By an agreement entered into today, the Democrat and Republican State Central committees bound the legislative candidates of both parties to abide by popular vote for United States Senator.

This agreement was adopted after Senator Francis G. Newlands' challenge to Senatorial Candididate Patrick F. Flanagan, that the choice for the high office be left to the people, had been accepted.

Indications Are That Congressman Jones Is People's Choice for Senator—Decidedly Close Vote Between McBride and Cosgrove to Succeed Present Chief Executive of State.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 9.—Owing to the number of names on the Republican ticket and the strong fight made for United States Senator and for Governor, complete returns have not been received at this hour, 4 p.m., from any of the thirty counties of the State under the new primary election law.

Incomplete returns from thirty counties indicate that Senator Levi Ankeny of Seattle and Samuel G. Cosgrove of Pomeroy, under the law, the winning candidate must receive 40 per cent of the first choice vote and where four or more candidates are running, a second choice must be voted for.

As there were eight candidates, the result is largely in doubt. McBride seems to have a slight lead on first choice, but Cosgrove has a decided advantage for second choice, and may be the nominee.

In Seattle and King county, Ankeny and McBride lead by small pluralities, with incomplete returns from 34 out of 23 precincts.

ALL WANT TO HEAR TAFT.
REQUESTS FOUR IN.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—Pending the arrangement by the Republican National Committee of the details of Judge Taft's intended trip through the country, the plans for the Cincinnati campaign are being held in abeyance.

Two appointments for delegations to visit the candidate here have been made, Sept. 17 and 22. The announcement through the press that a "swing around the circle" was to be made by the candidate, has resulted in a deluge of letters from various sections inviting addresses.

All such invitations are being referred to the National Committee. The one thing settled about the traveling campaign is that the candidate will be in Chicago, October 7, where he will address the Lake-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, at the Auditorium. This decision was adopted finally today, although Mr. Taft had some time ago responded to an inquiry on the subject by stating that he would accept Mr. Bryan's acceptance of the invitation to address the association.

Judge Taft's first day in Cincinnati was taken advantage of by many of his friends to pay their respects, and from the time he reached his newly-established offices at the Sinton Hotel, shortly after 10 o'clock, until late in the afternoon he was constantly engaged with callers.

HARRIMAN ON RECORD TRIP.

Makes Fast Time from Coast to Omaha.

Schedule Is Thousand Miles
in Twenty Hours.

Tracks All Kept Clear for President's Special.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

OGDEN (Utah) Sept. 9.—Edward H. Harriman's special train left Sparks at 5 o'clock this morning and reached Ogden at 5:15 this evening. Every district on the Salt Lake division had been kept clear during the day to give the special the right of way for a record run.

General Manager E. E. Calvin of the Southern Pacific accompanied the Harriman train from San Francisco to Sparks and one of the fastest trips on record was made between those points.

General Manager Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line and the members of his official staff met Mr. Harriman at Sparks this morning and have been in conference with him during the trip this city.

After a stop of twenty minutes at Ogden, the Harriman party pulled out for Omaha and another record run is scheduled for the thousand-mile trip. There will be no stops on the long run, except at division points to exchange engines and it is expected the train will reach Omaha in about twenty hours after leaving Ogden.

SEKS RATE AUTHORIZATION.
CANADIAN NORTHERN'S QUEST.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) An important meeting of the Executive Committee of the Western Passenger Association has been called for tomorrow. A request has been made by the Canadian Northern road for general authority to apply via St. Paul or Duluth special rates made between points in Eastern and Western Canada to meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific road. The same road has withdrawn from the arrangement in effect regarding the division of interline rates in the Northwest. Another important subject to be discussed is the payment of commissions on east-bound steamship business, which has been the cause of great annoyance.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The United States government today made it known in the strongest possible way that it will not assist the State authorities in the prosecution of George W. Fitzgerald, who is accused of stealing $173,000 from Assistant United States Treasurer William Boldenweck, who had Fitzgerald arrested while on duty in the Treasury Department to give no evidence or documents to the United States Secret Service men to the State unless specifically instructed to do so by United States District Attorney Edwin W. # Killer of Brave Officer Takes His Own Worthless Life.

fully in a package and after making a few plans left the house. Upon the plea of the landlady, the officers courteously agreed to allow the men to get some distance from the house before they made an arrest.

Following the two crooks, Capt. Auble and Flammer trailed them to Ninth street. They watched them until they were sure Sutherland and Horning would follow Ninth street for some distance, and then getting on a car, they rode to Ninth street and Grand avenue, where they agreed to head off the suspects.

Alighting from the car they took station in front of a small shack office on the northwest corner, occupied by a carpet-cleaning company.

"I'll take the one with the package, and you nab the other one," said Capt. Auble as the men approached.

Sutherland, who carried the gun wrapped in paper, swinging carelessly in his left hand, was the man Auble determined to capture.

Not suspecting any resistance because of the youth and apparent inexperience of the suspects, Flammer and Auble approached the two.

TERRIBLE STRUGGLE.

"I am an officer and I want to see you, young fellow," said Capt. Flammer, following out regulations and displaying his star. Quickly Horning's hand flew toward his breast in an evasive attempt to reach a hidden gun. Flammer, from wide experience, knew that many crooks carry their revolvers slung beneath their arms, and like a tiger he sprang upon him. With a grip of iron he seized the wrist of the younger adversary. Locked in that hold the man stood stock still for the moment, struggling desperately for the supremacy. Then slowly the steel-like muscles of the officer began to win. Silently he bent his prisoner back, forcing him step by step until the man's back struck the small step leading to the little shack. Like a flash Flammer heeled his knee, sending him crashing to his knees, still holding the twisting, writhing hands, while the two occupants of the office who ordered him to take Capt. Auble's handcuffs from the officer's pocket. With them he cuffed the prisoner and then whistled for help.

SHOT IN COLD BLOOD.

Capt. Auble had been shot down in cold blood, according to the statements of spectators. It all happened in a moment. The dying officer was never able to tell just what did occur. A dozen witnesses, however, saw the unprovoked murder.

As Flammer grappled with Horning, Auble stepped quickly to Sutherland and seized the hand that held the revolver, wrapped in paper. Auble told Sutherland to go of the package he held and placing his left hand on Capt. Auble's shoulder, whipped out a revolver, cunningly hidden between the waistband of his trousers and his shirt. Auble saw the move too late.

He dropped the package and attempted to grapple Sutherland, whose first shot tore into the left side of his neck, lodging near the spinal column.

The second shot drove into Auble's breast bone. By that time the officer, with set teeth, was fighting with the tenacity of a dying tiger, clinging to the man who relentlessly sent shot after shot into his body. His eyes half closed in the terrible pain, his legs trembling, and the blood streaming from his wounds, the brave captain went down, locked in a grim struggle with the murderer. Around and around they whirled, landing in the lot just west of the place where Capt. Flammer was pinning his prisoner.

While Auble held his man close to him, a third shot was fired, and then a fourth. The third was so close to the captain's body that his clothes were set on fire, and the flesh about the bullet wound seared and scorched. In the desperate struggle one bullet tore through the left hand of the murderer.

OFFICER TRIES TO PURSUE.

Pushing the dying man away, Sutherland drew back. Still with the gun in his hand, he retreated a few steps, and then, turning, he put his left hand under his coat, and holding the revolver clutched in his right, darted toward his apartments.

For a second Auble attempted vainly to follow him. The wound in his abdomen sucked out his vitality, sending the world swimming about him. His knees buckled under him, his head wobbling from side to side, while the blood from his gaping wounds seeped out on his clothing.

Gently he slid to his knees, gritting his teeth against the death that was stealing upon him, and then, with a little sob, dropped face downward in the grass.

As Auble fell, Flammer, leaving his handcuffed prisoner, leaped to him. Tenderly he raised his comrade's head and tried to ease his position. Telephone calls were sent to the Police Station, with order to call out the reserves.

Patrolman James McGrath from a neighboring beat was the first to arrive. He took charge of Horning, who, white-faced at the tragic turn of affairs, stood trembling by. Flammer called upon the driver of a passing automobile, and lifting the wounded man, carried him to the police station.

With a change of clothes he turned toward his door. Fear of the approach of the police, however, stopped him. He hesitated as he reached that door, and mad with fright, plunged into the hall, his gun ready for instant action. He had run down the steps to the lower hall attracted the attention of others in the house, who reached the hall in time to see the man shoot his way to his hip pocket as he gained the street and sprinted south toward Eleventh.

Not five minutes later, Capt. Flammer, trailing the blood spots, burst in the front door of the house, and gun in hand, rushed to the door of the murderer's room. Throwing it open, the captain flashed his bat before the opening, expecting to find the position of his man by the first shot, and then he leaped in. The bird had flown. The tale of the hurried visit was told.

As Capt. Flammer finished the man's story, he was stopped by a man in a uniform. "You must excuse me, boys," he said, his voice choked with sobs. "Capt. Auble had been working along with me for fifteen years."

As the body of the captain was taken from the station by the undertakers, the strong that had clamored for vengeance became suddenly silent in the presence of the wicker casket. Every hand was removed, every head bowed. It was a magnificent tribute to a brave man.

PREMONITION OF TRAGEDY?

Auble's Significant Remarks of Few Hours Before Are Recalled.

Did Capt. Walter H. Auble have a premonition that something was going to happen to him?

His widow believes that he did.

Her first words to her sister after she had been told of the violent assault on her husband were: "Walter knew that something was going to happen to him today." When asked that her husband had left home at 7 o'clock in the morning, which was rather early for him, and that when she had spoken about his leaving home so early he had replied:

"That is all right, dear, I have a little case to look up. Don't worry, for this will be the last time."

Then he went to meet Capt. Flammer to investigate the case which resulted in his death.

The captain spent the evening before his death at home with his family. He left the office shortly after dark in company with his youngest daughter, Gladys. On the way to the car he was asked by a friend about the proposal to put him in command of the East Side district with headquarters at the new work house.

"I don't know about that," replied Auble. "A man in my position cannot tell what he is going to do from one day to the next. I may have to do more anything, but if I am wanted over there I am ready to go."

run after the fleeing murderer. At Ninth and Hope, Sutherland had thrown the shells from his revolver without stopping, and reloaded. From that point, probably 200 yards from the shooting, the spots of blood began to appear. Doubling and dodging like a frightened coyote, the panic-stricken wretch had run to his room at No. 937 Georgia street. With sudden cunning he slowed down as he reached the house, walked briskly up the steps to his room on the second floor, and driven by the insanity of terror he threw his bloody coat and vest from his gun, bearing the box open with his teeth, leaving the imprint in the carpet of his shoes. He reached the door of his room, unlocked it, and

THIS PITY OF IT.

The arrival of Capt. Auble's body at the Receiving Hospital caused consternation. In a flash men were coming from every direction. The hospital was literally besieged by men, and to obey orders. Inside the little operating room, Auble lay on the table waiting for the operation.

To Detective Hawley he said: "I'm all in, old comrade. I'm going to die, and I want to go to the superior, Hawley answered: 'You're still alive, Walter, and while there's life there's hope. I'll take the package and you take the other. I wish now it had been reversed. We approached until we landed in the office of the building. Amount of Initial Investment	June 10, 1936	$5,000,000
Number of Units of Business Property	June 10, 1936	1,000

Without a moment's delay, in "hard times" as well as in "good times," Units of Business Property (unencumbered) owned by The Trustee Company, have now paid eighteen quarterly dividends, aggregating nearly $400,000; and today, with the rapidly increasing population and business of these progressive cities, the office and store-rooms, which earn the return on these regular dividends are in greater demand than ever before in the history of the Pacific Coast.

If you appreciate an income of clock-like regularity, come to the largest that SAFETY produces, you will lose no more time, which here means EARNING AND GROWING, than you would in the EARNING AND GROWING of any other investment.

no sympathy with murder and would not shelter a murderer; he therefore suggested that a watch be placed near his house.

To Sgt. Benedict fell the task of guarding the Weihe place. Shortly before the final arrangements were completed and the watchers sat down to play a waiting game. A little after 10 o'clock a figure was seen moving toward the house and giving the signal to his men, Sgt. Benedict prepared to question the murderer. The sight of a bare revolver in the man's hand was enough for the veteran police officer.

"Throw up your hands or I'll fill you full of buckshot," shouted Sgt. Benedict in an instant one hand went into the air; a short second later the other hand went up. The brief space of time had given the prisoner opportunity to get on his guard. With an alacrity which showed that he had thought the scene over many times, Sutherland grasped a small bottle suspended from his arm. Before any one could prevent he had placed the bottle to his lips and drained it.

The police immediately rushed to the side of the man. Before they realized that the medicine could have had any opportunity to work, Sutherland's legs caved under him and he sank, an inert mass on the ground. First aid remedies were administered, but in a very few minutes the heart had ceased to beat.

34 PER CENT. INCOME IN 2 YEARS IF YOU PAY CASH

26 PER CENT. INCOME IF BOUGHT ON $4 MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN

BUY A $100 RAILROAD MORTGAGE BOND FOR $90

A Limited Number of the Railroad Mortgage Bonds of the REDONDO, HERMOSA & BELVEDERE RAILWAY CO. are offered to the public at above bargain price. The total is only $35,000, being 350 bonds of $100 each, for two years at 8 per cent. per annum interest, payable semi-annually. Covering seven miles of standard-gauge railroad and branch lines, with rolling stock, of the Redondo, Hermosa and Belvedere Railway Co., between Culler Station (on the Huntington-Redondo Railway) and Hermosa Beach (on the Harriman L. A. Pacific Railway.)

THE TOTAL ISSUE IS ONLY 350 BONDS, WHICH MAKES THE SAME A BARGAIN

at above price of $82.80 for cash or $90 on terms of $4 per month. These bonds will soon sell for $100. Now is the time to buy. Purchasers will also receive an annual pass over the railroad. Our railroad runs through a rich region, whose fertile sandy loam produces the finest cantaloupes, melons and vegetables raised around Los Angeles. Over 8000 people have bought over 11,000 lots in the seven subdivisions through which our railroad runs, which assures us of ample patronage from said 8000 purchasers and the general public. The greatest obstacles new railroads usually have to contend with is in running through large tracts of land owned by few individuals, but we have built our railroad where there are over 8000 purchasers of land.

TO MY FRIENDS:—
I can unhesitatingly recommend the purchase of the 2 year, 8 per cent Railroad Mortgage Bonds of the Redondo, Hermosa & Belvedere Railway Co. at $90, payable $4 down, $4 per month, no interest, no taxes. They will soon sell for much more. I promise to aid said railroad in every way in my power, and with the same determined spirit as displayed by Uriah Lott, who built 650 miles of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railway, although he had only a wheelbarrow and his determination to succeed when he started in to build said railroad. Yours for a Square Deal.

hibition of defensive play seen at Vineyard Station this season. He went in when bowling was at its best, and by the utmost steadiness caused the bowling to be changed repeatedly. Cochrane cut Higgins for 2, while Lee scored 3 to mid off in Temper's next over. With only 37 on the board, Lee was brilliantly caught out at square leg by Heavens, off Higgins, and retired for a faultless 15. Two runs later Bhungara relieved Temper. With the total at 56, Robertson was smartly caught out by Packman, off the East Indian, and with the total unchanged Cochrane was sent back by Sanford at long on. C. Le Bas should have been caught out second ball by Packman, the wicket-keeper, but the catch was not accepted. With the total still unchanged Little was clean bowled by Bhungara, nine wickets for 18 runs. Without opening his account T. Hunt was scored before the fall of the first wicket, things out, through a smart piece of fielding by McCombe. The innings closed at 2:35 o'clock for 56 runs. This total did not look very alarming on paper, but it proved to be too great for the Los Angeles team. After the bowlers' dismal performance, the batting was, as usual, lashing out at the bowlers. ## COLORED FOLK GET POINTERS.

MANY ACCEPT INVITATION TO INSPECT Y.M.C.A.

Young Women Will Have Places of Honor This Afternoon and Evening—Club Women to Receive on Friday Evening, the Closing Event of the Festivities.

Considerable interest was shown last night by the colored people of the city, in the opportunity given them to view the new building of the Young Men's Christian Association, Rev. G. R. Bryant, T. A. Green, secretary of the colored branch of the Y.M.C.A., and others, received the visitors, who were shown every courtesy.

Mr. Green said last night that the colored people have purchased a lot and will have a brick gymnasium built within sixty days. It will be built large enough to meet all future requirements for a long time to come, and will be used for meetings until their association building is completed, which they hope to accomplish within the next year and a half. Those among the colored people who are enlisted in the movement, took great interest in studying the appointments of the splendid structure they visited last night.

Afternoon and evening yesterday the building was crowded with boys, who were recipients of the most painstaking consideration on the part of the officers of the association, as they look to the boys for the larger part of their recruits. When the hour of 8 o'clock came, the colored people began to arrive, but the stream of white boys and white ladies and gentlemen did not stop, and the crowd was well mixed.

This afternoon and evening the Young Women's Christian Association will be represented on the receiving committee, together with the membership committee and the campaign committee. A special invitation is extended to all the young people of the city. During the afternoon Miss Marple will sing and instrumental numbers will be given by Miss Laura Slicer and Miss Emogene Simkins. In the evening the orchestra of the Y.W.C.A. and the quartette of the Y.M.C.A. will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served on the mezzanine floor by young ladies, and the building will be decorated with flowers and palms for the occasion.

A large number of invitations have been sent out to women of the city for Friday evening, from 8 to 10, to be given by the following well-known presidents of various clubs: Mrs. Robert J. Burnett, Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, Mrs. J. W. Hole, Mrs. P. A. Spaulding, Mrs. George Rice, Mrs. George W. Jordan, Mrs. Shelby Tolhurst, Mrs. W. S. Taylor, Mrs. F. C. Prior, Mrs. Harry H. Barry, Mrs. Lauretta Barnaby, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Dr. Robert J. Burnett will be the guest of honor at the evening with one of his inimitable talks. Ladies and their escorts are invited, and as this is the last opportunity for the ladies, a general acceptance is urged.

THE FAT BOY.

By this time, the fat boy was blowing like a porpoise; he was as red as murder and looked with outraged indignation at the heaving, sweat-soaked bodies of his companions.

A good-sized crowd was waiting at the foot of the long Adams-street hill—on the edge of the city. By this time the running had become an agonizing place in a race that comes just before the second wind—a feeling of suffocation.

Penna, who was running slightly ahead, tackled the long sloop with his teeth gritted and without a falter from his stride. He was a giant of a boy, never turning a hair—neat and immaculate and "fifty"—came the derisive cry from the crowd.

At a great stride he took the road socially. He turned the hill, little Snyder—feeling his strength going—made a desperate sprint, tearing out ahead of the others. That was the end of him. For a moment, he held the lead as he was being dragged relentlessly in his footsteps.

SNOOK HIS HEAD.

Snoosh simply lengthened his strides a little and held the pace without distress; but little Snyder's strides became a wobble and grew uncertain; he began running like an awkward child. His attendant threw him a towel; he wiped his face, and then, wearily, he took a fair throw at the neck and tried to go on. At last with a gesture of despair, he turned to his will be strengthened by an elaborate system of submarine defense. Capt. A. A. Fries began work yesterday upon plans for storehouses, range finders, depth stations and other apparatus that will cover the entire system of mines and torpedoes.

• He stated that details of the proposed fortifications could not be given out until made public by either the House, the Department or Congress. But the exact particulars of the new fortifications are never given out, even after all work is complete," he added.

"Of course, any one is privileged to guess how many guns are located at the various points," said Capt. Fries. "Some points, but only those in the South, point, are the only ones prenticed to the Queen's Own Cavalry of the city of Cork, and after the close of those days was adopted as a member of the household of the principals of the firm, and spent his early manhood in acquiring a practical knowledge of the dry goods business.

In the early sixties he became one of the linen and silk buyers for Boston and London, and frequented the markets on its behalf. In the meantime his inborn spirit of revolt was fostered in his associations and studies, and he was not long in assuming a leading figure in the Nationalist movement of those days. Having a natural acumen on account of his business with sympathy for the oppressed, he was frequently often entrusted with delicate missions on behalf of his cause, and finally becoming intimately allied with the leaders he was arrested and charged with conspiracy in Portland, prison and charge of high treason.

The stormy trials that followed a historic and war-torn career, resulted in conviction and the infliction of sentences of ten years' confinement in Australia. Thither went many of his companions. Mr. Kenely was treated in his prison life for less than two years of his term was pardoned, with the condition of temporary banishment from British territory.

Coming at once to San Francisco, he again engaged in the dry goods business in that city and so remained until the spring of 1876, when he began establishing the firm of Dillon & Kenely that for many years was widely known in Southern California. Or later he was elected to the position of City Treasurer's office during the incumbency of W. H. Workman as Capt. Hance.

He leaves a widow, son, James Kenely, and a daughter, Miss M. Kenely.

In the social and business life of the city Mr. Kenely was well known as a family lecturer and was a frequent member of the Newman Club. The funeral will be held at the family residence on Friday morning, to be followed by a high mass at the Cathedral at 9 o'clock.

N ADDITION 32 batteries of big rifles and giant mortars, the projected fortifications at San Pedro, will be strengthened by an elaborate system of submarine defense. Capt. A. A. Fries began work yesterday upon plans for storehouses, range finders, torpedo stations and other paraphernalia that goes to make up a system of mines and torpedoes.

He stated that the details of the proposed fortifications could not be given out until made public by either the War Department or Congress. "But the exact particulars of this country's fortifications are never given out, even after all work is complete," he added.

"Of course, any one is privileged to suggest what improvements should be made at San Diego, San Francisco and Puget Sound points, but only those in the service are aware of the offensive and defensive equipment of a given fortification."

It was admitted, however, by the members of the Board of Engineers, which passed some time at San Diego a few days ago, that the general scheme of defense will be similar to that in use at other forts of Uncle Sam.

There will be a battery of big 12 inch disappearing guns, and possibly one or two 14-inch rifles. Back of the gun emplacements will be a park of mortars grouped into four, according to usual custom.

SECRET REPORT.

The special board of engineers, composed of Col. John Lundeen, Col. Belknap, Maj. J. C. Hays and Capt. J. H. Pinner, have gone over every foot of ground on Point Firmin, where it is proposed to

START TODAY ON CLEAN-UP.

War on Filth and Disease Will Be Pressed.

Health Officer Asks Police Force to Help.

Eyegore Lots, Rodents, and Dumps Doomed.

Beginning this morning the health department, under direction of Dr. L. M. Powers, will start an aggressive campaign to clean up the city along the lines mapped out in The Times on Sunday. The police department and the Board of Public Works will be called on to assist, as there is more work than the one department can handle. The war with filthiness will be pressed with three ends in view—the prevention of disease, removal of unsightly rubbish and the clearing away of trash that might become ignited and cause a conflagration.

The health department will center all its efforts on the first—the prevention of disease—and with this object in view a gang of men will start this morning to kill rodents. Dr. Powers has been making a careful study of the rats that carry germs, and is prepared to proceed against them in a scientific manner.

"This is a large undertaking," said the Health Officer last night, "and it will take most of my time, so in order that all the work may be carried on at once I am going to ask the assistance of the police department in enforcing the law governing rubbish on vacant lots."

"There will be a great many places where the city will have to remove the rubbish, and for this reason I shall ask the Board of Public Works to supply teams and men. This means that it will turn in to ask the Council for more funds, because I am going to ask for so many teams and laborers that the board will not be able to carry on the other work under its control without additional help."

The Chief of Police will be asked to form his patrolmen into a practical corps of inspectors. They will note all vacant lots and alleys on their beats and report those on which garbage or rubbish is located. Owners will be notified to clean up. It is a misdemeanor to allow enough rubbish to accumulate on a lot to constitute a nuisance, and the spirit of this campaign is that it does not take very much rubbish to mean a violation of the ordinance.

Many pieces of property belong to non-residents, and rather than lose the time that it would take to correspond with these city will clean off the worst. The owners may have to pay for it later.

"There was a tendency on the part of many people in the last clean-up campaign to let the city do all the work. Now this will not be tolerated, and resident property owners will get themselves up before they do not heed the warnings of the police to 'get busy.'"

"KEEP THE LID ON." "Another ordinance in connection with keeping the city clean which we shall ask the police to enforce rigidly from now on is that which governs garbage cans," said Dr. Powers. "The law states that garbage shall be kept in metal cans, with metallic covers, and that these covers shall be kept on at all times. Many people who comply with the law so far as putting the garbage in the metal cans is concerned, undo the good they might accomplish by leaving the lid off. When the foul odors escape and do more harm than they would if the garbage was dumped on the ground."

"These three things go together, and one without the other is as bad as none at all—metal cans, metallic covers, and keep the cover on.

"Certain persons who never investigate outside their own yards, and only see the street on each side of the car that takes them to and from town seem to think that Los Angeles is already a spotless town," continued Dr. Powers. "But any one who is enough interested to look at the rear of many of the vacant lots in every part of town will soon learn enough to know that we must clean up before the winter. When the rains begin every garbage pile, already a germ-breeder, becomes from two to a thousand times more fertile a field for the growth of germs that are dangerous to mankind. Then there are lots covered with a dank and unhealthy growth of weeds that are just as bad even though they are not quite so unsightly."

"Dumping garbage is another thing that must be regulated. The law against dumping on vacant lots by indiscriminate parties must be enforced. I believe that if the police patrolmen kept their eyes open and made an arrest every time they caught people breaking this ordinance, there would be less cleaning up to do."

HIDDEN BUT UGLY. One of the worst of many bad places is almost in the heart of the city. Behind a large signboard on the second lot south of Sixth street, on the east side of Hill, is a partly-excavated basement, leased by the Broadway Building Company for twenty-five years. This lot cannot be seen from the street, but it is none the less unsightly and unsanitary. Great piles of papers have drifted under the boardwalk along Hill street, which would make a fine resting place for a smoldering cigar butt or half-burnt match, and soon develop a large fire.

On the alley side, where the fumes and odors can penetrate the floors of several large stores and the places where many girls are at work all day, and other shifts all night, are piles of reeking garbage. This condition has been growing worse for a year.
